Thank you for stopping by!

Hi! My name is Claire and I am the Founder & CEO of Up in the Air Life.

After working twice as hard as everyone else to get where you are, I believe you deserve to let loose, be pampered, and stunt on the haters with Instagram-worthy shots of you living your best life.

I'm passionate about getting you out to see the world. You know, adventure to those places you only ever dreamed of going to, the ones you see on your Instagram feed... and wonder, how in the heck did they get to do that?

In 2013 I channeled my love for luxury, champagne, and exotic destinations to create Up in the Air Life. Recognized by Travel Noire as one of the most influential Black women in travel, I am dedicated to curating luxury trips that will change the way you think about travel... and give you the opportunity to make memories in the most unimaginable places on earth.

INTERNATIONAL BEDDING

In many cases, traveling abroad hotel bedding for twin beds at luxury hotels is often offered via two twins on a king frame so the hotel can convert the rooms easily. The below image is an example from a property in South Africa with International Bedding.

If sleeping this close to your roommate makes you uncomfortable and you require separate frames you should consider upgrading to a single occupancy as we cannot guarantee it will be available at the hotel.

Single upgrades should be requested as soon as possible at least 6 months prior to your trip departure date.

*Please note this is an example photo, we do not guarantee this room for your stay
